Who we are:

Bridges for Learning was set up by Siobhan Aubin in 2004, as an independent consultancy service providing a high quality Educational Psychology service for children and adults.

We specialise in promoting learning, social development and good mental health in children and adults.

Our areas of expertise are;

- Autistic Spectrum Disorder
- Social, emotional and mental health
- Challenging behaviour
- Dyslexia and dyscalculia
- Complex learning difficulties
- Metacognition and approaches to learning
- LAC and adoption
- Post 16
- Adults with severe and complex learning disabilities
- Expert witness work in family courts and SEN tribunals

Our practitioner psychologists are registered with the Health Care Professions Council and are members of the British Psychological Society. All staff are checked through the Disclosure and Barring System.

What we offer:

- Direct work with children and adults using a wide range of assessments
 - Thorough consultation with individuals, parent, school and workplace
 - Support to schools, workplace and parents following assessment
 - Review of progress following our involvement
 - Training for parents and professionals supporting children and adults
 - Research skills to evaluate and improve outcomes for children and adults

We work with:

- Individuals and groups of children and young people (0-25 years of age) and their parents or carers
- Adults of any age
- Educational provisions e.g. schools, colleges, supported workplaces
- Multi-agency practitioners and professionals
- Voluntary, community and social enterprise organisations

We are committed to:

- Bringing psychology to communities
- Ensuring equality of access for psychological support
- Supporting development and learning
- Respecting the views of everyone by listening
- Helping others to recognise their strengths
- Promoting good mental health
