Do your bit for the environment—go organic!

A colourful and 100% organic corner of our garden

There's no escape from all the info we keep receiving about the current state of our environment. Climate change, carbon footprints, recycling, energy saving are now all familiar terms.

Replacing all the house light bulbs, setting the thermostat to a lower temperature, making sure that you don't leave your TV or PC in standby overnight are all good starting points.

But, what about your garden? Your garden is an important part of your home and the same environmental friendly measures should be applied here, too.

Cottage Garden Services are committed to the environment: we only use 100% organic methods and materials. This means that it may take longer, but with nature's helping hand, you can rest assured that the end result will be worth the wait... And you will feel better knowing that you have "done your bit" for the environment.

Say "NO" to pesticides!

Cottage Garden Services never uses pesticides or other harmful chemicals. All products we use when looking after your garden are guaranteed to be organic.

This is extremely important if we want to encourage the wildlife in our gardens. All creatures great and small need to be safeguarded, in order to maintain the perfect balance.

Think of birds, butterflies, bees, frogs, and all the insects that not only will add life and colour to your garden, but will also help fight the most common pests. Colourful and scented flowers will attract butterflies and bees (bees play an important role in the food chain); trees, shrubs and hedges will provide a welcome shelter for birds.

And what better way to relax than sitting in your garden, listening to the sounds of wildlife around you!

The 3 "Rs" rule: Reduce—Reuse—Recycle

This is our golden rule. Being organic is important, but without recycling and waste reduction, our business would not be complete.

We reduce waste by recycling and re-using materials, from grass to garden pots.

All grass cuttings, dead leaves and branches end up in our compost heap. Here a natural chem-

All plastic pots are recycled and passed on to local garden nurseries.
