The Oddfellows Arms

Sunday afternoon in the quaint town of Harpenden, well the Odd Fellows was a befitting name for the venue. A packed garden was the home for 2Tone for a few hours Sunday, a short fuse was lit by the boys and the revellers took over, the more the lads sung the more they folks danced. A guest appearance was made by none other than the police, yep you heard it. Playing on to the cheers of more it was a fun filled '2Tone' party afternoon.

VEGAS NIGHT

Las Vegas at The Mecure Hotel Watford was all glitz and glamour but most of all a fun filled party night, dressed to impress this sell out event was almost magical, the legendary crooning of the Rat Pack coupled with the songs of Elvis brought a kind of nostalgia into the ballroom. Events like these are becoming few and far between which is a shame because it's nice to be able to go out to a cabaret type evening.

The Mecure are trialling these at the moment with their next event happening on the 30th June. CHECK IT OUT !!

Iver Heath Royal British Legion

Super Sunday in Iver at the Royal British Legion. It was good to see familiar faces at the event who came out to play on a Sunday. The lads did what they do best and entertained the people. Requests for a variety of songs kept coming in and '2Tone' accommodated them singing hit after hit to their delight, a good time had by all.

Bringing Out The Sun

At The Sun Lemsford, there has always been a warm reception for '2Tone' and this time was no different, the venue was filled to maximum capacity with party goers wanting to have an evening of fun with the lads, and they were not disappointed. Firing on all cylinders '2Tone' kicked off with a volley of requests before turning out new and alternative material to the delight of the revellers, as usual the finish was extended due to the extent of the applause that kept on going for what seemed to be an eternity. Great night looking forward to the next.
