research' – Albert

Health and wellbeing

At our nurseries children are introduced to the concepts of health, hygiene and safety along with the importance of diet, rest, sleep and exercise.

Outside play is an extension of the nursery, providing a healthy, safe and stimulating environment for each child. The outdoors offers endless opportunities to explore nature enjoy planting and continue learning. As part of our commitment to healthy lifestyles we offer physical education programmes and activities.

We have organic kitchen gardens in our nurseries where children learn about planting, growing, harvesting and the rhythm of seasons. The crops produced are used by the children as part of the Cooking Programme and the nursery chef as ingredients in our menus.

We also raise awareness in our nurseries of environmentally friendly practices and introduce the children to concepts of recycling and re using materials.

Food for thought

We know how important it is to provide growing children with healthy meals using a selection of fresh ingredients. Our nursery menus are carefully planned and follow the Children's Food Trust guidelines. We provide opportunities for children to experience different foods and develop healthy eating patterns.

Children are involved in family style meals; the children learn to set tables, serve themselves, learn table etiquette and share social conversations. Most important of all, meal times for all ages are seen as an enjoyable, relaxed time and encourage children to come together and learn how to be part of a group and this teaches them valuable social skills.

We are aware that some children may have specific dietary requirements and these, following consultation with the nursery, can be catered for.
