

To whom it may concern

16th February 2015

Palladium Consulting Engineers Ltd

Palladium have provided Structural Engineering Services to our business for in excess of 15 years.

The majority of the work is related to New Build residential development, but has included conversion of existing commercial properties.

The build projects on which they have worked, have been predominantly brownfield sites, which in many instances have presented challenging ground conditions requiring different foundation solutions.

The Superstructures have varied from low to high rise and ranged from traditional masonry, reinforced masonry, partial or full timber frame and full R C frame buildings.

Yours faithfully

M.R.SMITH
Technical Operations Director